

Classification Chart

A classification chart is used to organize information under relevant or related categories. The top of the chart indicates the broad category and examples or definitions fall in the column beneath.

Addition of new family members	Physical care and maintenance	Socialization of children	Social control of children	Production, consumption and distribution of goods and services	Nurturance and love
<ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>- adoption</li><li>- foster care</li><li>- having a baby</li></ul>	<ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>- food</li><li>- clothing</li><li>- shelter</li><li>- medical care</li></ul>	<ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>- values</li><li>- beliefs</li><li>- normal</li><li>- culture</li><li>- attitudes</li></ul>	<ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>- order</li><li>- discipline</li><li>- behaviour</li></ul>	<ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>- food</li><li>- clothing</li><li>- technology</li><li>- building</li><li>- cleaning</li></ul>	<ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>- caring</li><li>- helping</li><li>- guiding</li><li>- protecting</li></ul>